COOL CURE Although the designers of Current/Elliott are known as pioneers of the slouchy boyfriend jeans look, they're also fast becoming stars on the philanthropy circuit. Since Meritt Elliott lost her husband, Kevin Carlberg, to brain cancer in 2009, she's been on the board of Phase ONE, a nonprofit organization that supports phase one clinical research and treatment programs for cancer patients. This winter, Elliott and her partner, Emily Current, are rallying fashion folk for the first of many fundraising dinner parties for the charity. Get involved! phaseonefoundation.org
